

Toshca Dick

My name is Toshca, and I am a proud paralegal studies graduate of South African Law School.

After completing my modules and my 85 SALSA hours (in which I had my own cases and clients – so much fun, but still hard work!) we had our end of year presentation in which I discussed (in oral form) one of my cases in detail, to determine if I qualified to graduate.

Graduation

was an amazing experience, all my fellow students and I being recognized for our achievements.

With the help of ALAS Recruitment (a part of SA Law School) I was placed at a wonderful law firm in CBD Cape Town.

I've been at this firm just over a year and a half now and its great! I'm meeting so many new people, and learning so many things.

SA

Law School gave me a wonderful grounding and the motivation to take my career and my studies further. I am currently a part time UNISA law student planning on finishing my LLB Degree in a few years and practicing as a successful attorney.

And as they say, the rest is history…

Kind Regards,

Toshca
